About the History of Art Markets – ULB Workshop

This study day is organised in connection with a forthcoming Special Issue of the Journal of Cultural Economics (JCEC) on the history of art markets. The workshop is intended as a first gathering of contributors and papers that may form part of the Special Issue, providing an opportunity to discuss ongoing research and collectively shape the content of the issue.

Participation in the Special Issue will be subject to the journal's standard peer-review process, and participation in the workshop does not guarantee publication. Speakers are nevertheless strongly encouraged to develop and submit their papers to the Special Issue.
